

Most Proud

By Natasha Davis

I'm most proud of myself for coming back to school. I'm glad I was able to come back and get my education while I'm still young. I felt that I should get it now because I still have a long life ahead of me. I still have time to do what I want, go where I want, and become the person I'm trying to be. Also, I feel having an education is one of the most important things you can get in life without one you really can't go far.
